It would be interesting to describe, also, that other Legation which is the Minister's private residence, though, to the European mind, more truly the Legation than any set of offices can be, But I will leave it with the remark that Berlin houses are either very modest or very magnificent, and though Mr. Phelps might have made up his mind to a palace, if he could have got one, he ended by renting a new building, turning it into a spacious home and making it, both for his countrymen and for the good German, a social head-

If I add that Mr. Phelps was a favorite in Berlin society, a constant and delightful host, and ever on friendly terms with the two Bismarcks, father and son, and yet again that he nevertheless found it possible to get on comfortably with the Emperor and with his present Chancellor, I shall have come pretty nearly to the end of my history. It would not be easy to explain how much the strain of social obligations and duties has been lessened by the cooperation of Mrs. Phelps and of Miss Phelps, nor to determine the precise share of popularity and admiration which ought to be, and is, theirs; whether among Germans or Americans. Nor is it without some patriotic regrei that her countryfolk have heard that Mr. Phelps is to leave his daughter as a hostage in Berlin, which witnesses her marriage next month to Herr von Rottenburz, a distinguished German official, long in close relations to Prince Bismarck. I thought I detected a note of triumph in some of the German allusions to this international alliance. There is, at any rate, among the best people of Berlin and even in the German press, a general and sincere expression of regret at Mr. Phelps's de-G. W. S.

A BREAKFAST TO THE INFANTA.

A RECEPTION AT THE HOME OF THE MAYOR. DRIVE IN THE BOULEYARDS AND A DINNER AT PRESIDENT HIGINBOTHAM'S HOUSE ENTERTAINMENT.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

Chicago, June 7 .- While the early morning hour were suggestive of possible smokiness during the day by the time the Infanta arose the skies were mo erately clear, and the atmosphere was free from soot Whatever her ideas of Chicago hospitality and great ness as a commercial city of the West may be, there is no doubt that the Infanta must realize and appre made her home in New-York and that in which she is made her home in New-York and that in which she is being entertained in Chicago. The Palmer House, at State and Monroe sts., is in one of the noisiest and busiest parts of the city. There is the eternal tanging of the bells of the cable cars in the street below, and the view from her window presents nothing attractive—only smoky gray walls of big stores, and a hurrying, rushing crowd on the sidewalks—compared with the beautiful outlook over the Flity-ninth-st. plaza and the entrance to Central Park. But her apartments here are certainly spacious and all that a Princess travelling in a strange country could de sire, and it is certain that she has manifested no dis satisfaction with any of her surroundings. Indeed, she expresses herself pleased with the little that she has seen of the World's Fair city, and looks expectantly to the wenders awaiting her inspection at Jackson Park The breakfast hour at the home of Mayor Harrison to-day was 12:30 o'clock, and the hour set for the start from the hotel was 12 o'clock. But before 10 o'clock a crowd began to assemble at the intersection of State and Monroe sts., gradually swelling to such proportions that the policemen were obliged to extend ropes across Monroe-st. in order to keep in reserve a place for the carriages which were to convey the royal party to the home of the Mayor. crowd extended to Wabash-ave. eastward and along that avenue to Jackson-st., two blocks southward and still farther along Jackson-st. westward, so far as it was known that the procession would traverse these thoroughfares. An escort of twenty-four mounted police rode in front of the Infanta's carriage and the journey was made in about twenty minutes The house of Mayor Harrison was simply decorated with bunting, representing the Spanish and American colors; and the floral decorations of the dining room were almost exclusively confined to red and yellow Roses and tulips, as a compliment to the colors of the country of the Princess. In addition to the royal party, Commander and Mrs. Davis, and the hest and hostess, only ten persons sat down to the table. the house of Mayor Harrison is of quite moderate size. Following the breakfast there was a reception, for which between seventy-five and 100 invitations had been issued. The lists included Monsignor Satolli and Archbishop Fechan, General J. T. Torrence and Miss Torrence, Director-General Davis, George M. Pullman, Judge Lambert Tree, Lyman J. Gage, H. H. Kohlsaat, P. D. Armour, S. W. Allerton, Victor F. Lawson, C. H. McCormick, Charles T. Yerkes and Marshall Field. Many of the men present were accompanied by their wives or daughters. The reeption began at about half-past 1, and continued Then at the invitation of Mayor Harrison the royal party re-entered their carriages and were driven along the great boulevards on the West Side. It was here that the Princess could derive a conception of the magnificence and expansiveness of the future Chicago. when this great system, one of the most claborate in the world, shall have been developed in years to come. These broad beulevards, extending miles and miles, with their interlinking parks clothed at this season in all their vernal beauty evidently impressed the Infanta deeply. There are few people in New-York, by the way, or in East generally, who know of the existence of this great system or, knowing of it, have taken the pains to make the grand circuit. The Princess was little fellemed on her return to the hotel, about

This evening the reyal party were the guests of President Higinbotham, of the World's Fair Directory, at his home in Michigan-ave. The Infanta was heartily cheered as she alighted with the Prince from her carriage. The royal couple were welcomed at the threshold by Mr. and Mrs. Highabotham. It was 8 o'clock when they arrived, and by that time all the other guests had assembled in the reception room. Only the Spanish colors adorned the dining The floral decorations of the table consisted of exquisite yellow orchids and Jacquemino roses in abundance. Spanish melodies floated into the dining room from a mandolin and guitar orchestra hidden among the palms, ferns and exotics of the There were no menn cards, but at each plate was a hand-painted card bearing the the Republic. The tables were arranged in oblong form, but without any foot. The following composed the party: The Infanta Eulalie and Prince Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow N. Highbotham, Harry Higinbotham, Harlow B. Higinbotham, Miss Florence Higinbotham, Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinant W. Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer, President Thomas W. Palmer, Mayor Harrison, Miss Harrison, Mme. Dupay de Lome, Senor Don Dupuy de Lome, Commissioner General from Spain; Commander Davis, Senor Don Fedro Jover y Foras, Marquesa de Arco Hermosa

General from Spain; Commander Davis, Senor Don Pedro Jover y Foras, Marquesa de Arco Hermosa, the Duke of Tamames and Senor Murunga, the Spanish Minister. The Scoretary of State and Mrs. Gresham, Governor Alfgeld and the Director-General and Mrs. Davis sent their regrets.

To-morrow a visit to the World's Fair will be made, Mayor Harrison will accompany the party as escori, and the Chicago Hassars will serve as a gnard of honor. The private carringe of Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer will be octapied by the Princess and Trince Antonio. On reaching the western entrange to the Midway Plaisanse, which is one mile from the gates to the Exposition groundsproper, the party will be met by President Thomas W. Palmer, of the National Commission; President Highotham and Mrs. Potter Palmer, as the representative of the Woman's Denartment at the World's Fair. Passing from the Midway Plaisance to the grounds, the carriages will move directly to the Administration Beilding. Launcheon will be escented to the Woman's Building, and here will be lifty gnests. Subsequently the Infanta will be escented to the Woman's Building, and here time during the rest of the afterneon and evening will be at her own command, except that she will remain on the grounds until after dark to witness the electrical dispiay to Grand Central Court. One of the designs will represent the Princess herself. The party will return to the city in the evening on the United States stemmer Michigan.

It is to be hoped that the Infanta will escape the intense heat which is remembered by many who have in the past been here in the early weeks of June, Teday the temperature has ranged between 60, at so considerably warmer weather is predicted for to-morrow,

The three experts appointed to investigate the Washington, with a view to formulating if possible dent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad; Charles W. Haskins, of New-York, and E. W. Sells, Charles W. Hasains, or New York, and E. W. Sells, of Chicago. Mr. Haskins is well known in New-York City as a finencier and accomment of ability. He was formerly secretary of the Manhattan Trust Company, and was also connected with the West Shore York Society of Sons of the American Revolution, of which Chauncey M. Depew is president, and was recently elected secretary of the society. He is a man of greet energy, and can accomplish much hard work. He will have a task, however, worthy of the best efforts he is capable of to simplify the businessiike methods established by Republican Administrations at Wash-ington.

Princeton, N. J., June 7 (Special) .- President Patton has returned home from Bermuda, where he has been staying for the last month. He will deliver the staying for the last month. He will deliver the baccalaureate sermon next Sunday. "I am feeling well," he said this afternoon. "I enjoyed my stay in Bermuda very much, and the rest I got there did me a great deal of good. I shall conduct the commencement exercises here and then return to Bermuda uspend the summer."

WILL WAGE WAR ON THE WHISKEY TRUST. Cincinnati, June 7.-TThe enemies of the Whiskey Johnson & Co., the Sycamore-st, distributors, have decided to withdraw from the organization and to wage lift war against it. Mr. Johnson did not deny the truth of the report when questioned yesterday, and said: "You will hear something drop within twenty-four hours."

AN ENCYCLICAL ON THE SCHOOL QUESTION. The Rome correspondent of "The Catholic News" tele-graphed vesteriary that the Pope mailed an important Pontifical document on June 5 to the Bishops of the United States. This document deals with the achool question, and uphelds the opinion of the mainetty of the Episcopate of the United States. THE WORLD'S FAIR.

BRIGHT WEATHER BRINGS OUT THE MUL-TITUDES.

EVERY DAY NEW EXHIBITS ARE ADDED TO THE ATTRACTIONS AT JACKSON PARK-GERMAN DAY AND THE TURNERS.

Chicago, June 7.-The bright sunshine of the morn ing brought out the sightseers early, in multitudes As soon as the gates were opened people began to pour into the park, and they kept coming all day. The redironds brought in great crowds and the lake routes were well patronized. The big buildings and magnificent distances, however, soon disposed of the people, and there was room for many more. The grounds are gradually acquiring that gain appearance so much desired by the officials, and so necessary for the success and promotion of the Fair. The only exception to the finished appearance of the park is in the great plaza surrounding the Administra-tion Building. Here two band stands and a private concession, which have been five weeks is constituted tion, are yet unfinished, but the workmen expect to complete their task by the end of the week.

Elevated Railroad this morning. At 9 o'clock the officers of the road, which encircles the grounds on the inside, had a train of four cars brought to the Midway Plaisance gates, and in response to invita tions issued yesterday the population of that cos-mopolitan quarter embarked for a ride about the grounds. The first car was given up to the lowa State Band, and Bandmaster Phinney and his men were kept busy tooting the airs of all nations and varied war dances during the trip. Hagenbeck's animal show sent forty men. King Bull, of the Lap-land village, came on with the party, and sat side by side with three swarthy seven-foot Zulus, who were playing jackstones with the natives of the Dahoney village on the seat opposite. "Buffalo Bill's" Indians, in their gaudy trappings, filled the last car. Nearly every nation on earth was repre sented, and as they went around the park they sent up a conglomeration of cheers and yells that almost caused the statues on the big buildings to crumble. The train finally stopped at the south end of the grounds, where the party was photographed, and after to have his official head severed from his every day body. Yesterday he defied the authority of Director-General Davis, the National Commission and the Board of Control by taking up a pass given to a photographer, confiscating his plates and causing him to be arrested. Albert B. Stone was the owner of the permit, which was issued by the Director-General in person. Mr. Stone is the editor of a souvenir volume of the dedication exercises last October, and to enhance the value of the work Mr. Stone desired to secure some views of the buildings. Director-General Davis, when informed of the action of Arnold, declined to make any further statement than that his order would have to be obeyed. It is extremely probable that inside of two weeks Mr. Arnold will be removed

A sliver salver made early in the slateenth century and purchased two years ago at the Secretan sale in Paris is the feature of a notable collection from the home of Edward Holbrook, of New-York.

THE WORLD'S TEMPERANCE CONGRESS Chicago, June 7 .- Washington Hall, at the Art

Institute, was well filled to-day when the World's Temperance Congress was called to order by Bishop Fallows, who was chairman for the day. The two meetings, which, according to the official programme, were to have been held at 10 o'clock—one to discuss total abstinence and the other the enforcement of law-were combined in Washington Hall. Archbishop abstinence, could not be present, having been sud-denly called away to St. Paul. His paper was read by W. J. Onahan. The paper was an interesting one and was frequently applauded. A paper on the mortality of total abstaluers in British insurance somortality of total abstaluers in British insurance so-cicities, written by Dr. C. R. Drysdale, of the Metro-politum Hospital, London, was read by B. R. Hewett, Papers were also read by James A. COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT MUSIC HALL-DEGREES CONFERRED BY THE BOARD OF REGENTS.

School were held in the Music Hall last evening, and the degree of Bachelor of Laws was conferred upon 121 aspirants for legal honors. As the school is just completing the second year of its existence, this class is really the first class it has graduated, that of last year having begun its course in the offices and lecture rooms in the Equitable Building, where the offices and practical workings of the pro-fession abound on every hand. The fact that the institution is already the second largest in the country, and has a larger new senior class than any other, has been announced by its faculty and trustees with a good deal of pleasure.

Music Hall was well filled at the exercises last night. The dean of the school, George Chuse, pre-sided and the opening prayer and the benediction were pronnounced by the Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Kerr, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church.

The address to the class was made by John M.

Powers, and it was received with evidences of great interest. Mr. Bowers began by paying an eloquent tribute to the profession of law, its high character, its importance to the Nation and its past exponents. He gave a slightly utilitarian trend to his introduction in recalling that for the piace of President of the United States lawyers have had only soldiers as competitors, and for legislative places their greatest rivals have been capitalists; "both I beg to submit,"

he added, "most worthy competitors."

Albert B. Boardman, who followed Mr. Bowers, referred to this part of the address, and offered this counter-advice : "Shun office; have nothing to do with office. Office has spelled more good lawyers than anything else-Mr. Bowers paid a passing compliment to the

All of the speakers spoke with deep respect of Professor Theodore Dwight, whose life and methods made the New-York Law School possible.

The prizes and the prize fellowship were awarded by Albert B. Boardman, who remarked, in doing so, that he remembered once to have struggled for similar prize himself and remembered, too, that he didn't get it. He referred to the class as "the flower of the legal aspirants of 1803, from the greatest law school in the greatest city of the greatest State of the greatest country in the world." Mr. Boariman is a trustee of the school, and is enthusiastic in his

German Day at the Fair has been set for June 15. The arrangements provided for a parade with 40,000 men in line. The day in its varied exercises, parade, perchanaking and feetivities is intended to lilustrate the progress of the German-American, as well as to call attention to the scientific and mechanical displays of deferming in the World's, Fair.

A high has occurred, however, which thesates to overturn the plans for the calculation of German Day. June 15 is the analyze-sary of Emperor William's accession to the throne of German and aday on June 15 has been taken as an indication, the German will be sufficient to the strength of the German will be sufficient to the strength of the German will be sufficient to the strength of the German will be sufficient to the strength of the German will be sufficient to the throne of German mality policy and that they desire him to succeed at the elections. The turreers almost to a man disavow all sympothy with ideas of military and mality reduced to participate in the procession on German Day if it is understood that it doing set they are put in the position of indorsing Emperor William and his plans. A many affected six is two desired that it doing set they are put in the position of indorsing Emperor William and his plans, and manufacturing Company's position, in Manufacturing and advancement. From the beginning New-York has taken a just pride in her lawyers, and has summoned them to her own service in numbers that seemed to suggest. If not also to warrant, a philosophic Frenchman's remark, now more than half a century old, that "the authority entrusted in America to members of the legal profession and the inducence they excrete in the government are the mose powerful existing security against excesses." He continued with another interesting observation, to the effect that an "American aristocracy is not to be found among the rich, who are united by no common thes, but that it occunies"—If you please—"the Indicial bench and the bar." For haps to this quotation an unaristocratic layman ought in common candor to add the fact that M. de Tocque ville was himself a lawyer!

If, in these later days, the popular judgment has not seemed at quite all times and under quite all circumstances to give the profession so exalted a rating, let it be your honorable task, gentlemen, as it may be your high privilege, to do your full share in restoring the old standards.

paper man. He had a tremendous vogue for a short time, but he soon lost his grip on the public, and never recovered it." Mr. Editor, I think I belped to make history, at least some people tell me that I made a footprint in life. Now, if that is so, I would like and those who know me to rend that a bright San Francisco newspaper man wrote my speeches. No man ever wrote a speech for me. My speeches were outside the usual rut of Fourth of July orations and after-dinner talks. My war cry was, Must Go." That cry is now a part of our National statutes. Itside of two years from the day I left my dray to raise that cry the writers of the leading newspapers and magazines of the world were abusing me to their hearts' content. The papers of my own country were the bitterest of the lot. You, Mr. Editor, will admit that I burned that war-ers into the minds of men, and fastened it, in imperishable type, who write history have put me into the be The degree of Eachelor of Laws was conferred upon the following:
